Mrs. Bernice Walbridge's and the Misses Parke's Tea.

Mrs. Bernice Parke Walbridge and the Misses Parke were hostesses this week at one of the most charming "teas" given this season. Everything in the appointments of the reception on Thursday afternoon were fitting. The atmosphere of the ideal home permeated everything from the garden surrounding the house to the roof. The decorations were in exquisite taste, never crowding or being obtrusive, for most of the flowers, and there were "loads" of them, were in low bowls and baskets, some of the baskets being suspended from the arches, others in various artistic ways. The perfume of the stately American Beauty mingled with that of the fragrant red Hawaiian rose was wafted through the spacious rooms. The music and living rooms were generously ornamented with the lovely flowers.

The dining room was ablaze with delicate pink and pale yellow roses, sprays of lacy fern adding the bit of green that is always restful and cool. Several vases of red gladiolas made one realize that spring is here. The hall and library were very lovely with great masses of "sweet home lilies," the gift of an old friend, as were many of the beautiful blooms used. The enchanting view from the drawing room and dining room of the Palapa and the green of the hillside were truly lovely.

Many handsome and rare palms were used on the lanai and were greatly admired. A bamboo covered extension made a charming place to sit and chat, the sides were made of feathery Japanese bamboo and a very old Japanese holiday flag draped the front. The base was a deep border of growing begonias. During the afternoon Signor Michele Gioacchini, baritone, sang, greatly to the pleasure of the assembled friends. His magnificent voice was never better. Many indeed were the complimentary words heard in praise of the artist.

Mrs. L. Tenney Peck accompanied Signor Gioacchini in her always finished and artistic manner. Signor Gioacchini has endeared himself to all who have heard him by his unflinching courtesy not less than his vocal ability.

The Misses Parke were assisted in the reception of their guests by Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. William Ault, Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. Tenney Peck, Mrs. H. M. von Holt, Mrs. L. M. Folsom, Mrs. Robbins Anderson and Mrs. Ranney Scott. Mrs. F. W. Kiehn decorated the home. Mrs. James Gordon Spencer poured tea and Mrs. Andrew Fuller poured coffee. Miss Claire Kelly served punch. Miss Esther and Miss Bertie Kopke assisted in the dining room.

The guests included Miss N. J. Adams, Mrs. R. W. Anderson, Miss Ruth Anderson, Mrs. R. B. Anderson, Miss B. Anderson, Mrs. Frank Armstrong, Mrs. Ault, Mrs. C. W. Ashford, Miss Ashford, Mrs. J. B. ## When You Dance

you want to enjoy yourself. There are many things that make for enjoyment in the dance, none more than the RIGHT dancing shoe.

To be "right" the shoe must first of all fit your foot exactly--it must be well-made of the finest material--it must be "correct" in style and line.

Regal Shoes fulfill these requirements. By our "Footograph" system you are insured a correct fit. The fact that your shoe is a Regal takes care of the rest! Prices to suit your purse.
